

HIGHER TECHNICIAN IN MECHANICAL PRODUCTION SCHEDULING

The Student with this degree will have acquired the General Competence to planning, scheduling and monitoring the machining and fitting of equipment manufacturing process, from the documentation of the process and specifications of the products to be manufactured, ensuring management and products quality, as well as the supervision of labour risk prevention and environmental protection systems.

The Higher Technician in Mechanical Production Scheduling works in metal transforming industries related with the subsectors focused on the manufacturing of machinery and mechanical equipment, electrical, electronic and optical material and equipment and transport material corresponding to the industrial sector.

The most relevant occupations or jobs for Higher Technician in Mechanical Production Scheduling

- Mechanics technician
- Metal processing facilities manager
- Manager of metal working machinery operators Fitters manager
- CNC programmer
- Mechanical production automated systems programmer Production programmer